DETAILED ACTION

1. The amendment filed 10/24/2006 is objected to under 35 U.S.C. 132(a) because it introduces new matter into the disclosure. 35 U.S.C. 132(a) states that no amendment shall introduce new matter into the disclosure of the invention. The added material which is not supported by the original disclosure are the information processing apparatus comprising a first memory of n bits sufficient for storing the modulus P , a second memory of m bits sufficient for storing said input value x , a third memory for storing $2^{(2m+n)} \bmod P$, and the Montgomery modular multiplication device as recited now in claims 1,2 and 6.

Applicant is required to cancel the new matter in the reply to this Office Action.

2. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.

In particular, the specification does not support for the information processing apparatus comprising a first memory of n bits sufficient for storing the modulus P , a second memory of m bits sufficient for storing said input value x , a third memory for storing $2^{(2m+n)} \bmod P$, and the Montgomery modular multiplication device as recited now in claims 1,2 and 6 .

3. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

4. Claims 1,2 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter.

Claims 1 and 2 are directed to a computer implemented method of calculation where the inputs are numbers and the results are also numbers. Claim 6 is directed to a non-specific apparatus implementing the method. In order for a claimed invention that is directed to such a computer implemented method or a non specific apparatus that performs calculations according to a mathematical algorithm to be statutory, the claimed invention must accomplish a practical application. That is the claimed invention must transform an article or physical object to a different state or thing, or produce a useful, concrete and tangible result. State Street, 149 F.3d at 1373-74, 47 USPQ2d at 1601-02. Also see "Interim Guidelines for Examination of Patent Applications for Patent Subject Matter Eligibility", OG Notices: 22 November 2005. It is clear from claims 1,2 and 6 that the claims merely involves calculations and manipulations of data in performing computations. The claimed invention does not result in a physical transformation. The result of the invention is a mere numerical value without a practical application recited in the claims and thus is not a real-work result. therefore, the result is not useful, concrete and tangible. Therefore, the 1,2 and 6 are directed to non-statutory subject matter as the claims fail to accomplish a practical application.

5. Applicant's arguments filed 10/24/2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive because the final result produced by the invention of claims 1,2 and 6 is clearly a mere numbers that does not have a real word value. Claims 1,2 and 6 clearly fail recite a practical application to make the result produced by the claimed invention useful, and thus are directed to non-statutory subject matter as the invention fail to accomplish a practical application.

6. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
